... for the rebuilding of the Rockfield & Rumford Falls railroad, made their report on Monday. The aggregates are understood to be less than the sum required, but so little that it will probably be made up. On the opening of the present term of court in the county, a petition was filed for the appointment of a receiver of the old P. & O. corporation. A hearing on this petition will be held to-day. This action is expected to cover all points of doubt as to the title of the present owners of the bonds, by enacting a lien on all property of the old corporation for all moneys expended in repairing the road. The people along the line now look confidently for the early opening of their road, in first class condition and well equipped.

Sagadahoc.

One evening recently the residence of Wm. H. Fogg, Esq., Bath, was entered in his absence by some unknown person, who was evidently out of provisions. He was making off with about one third of a barrel of flour when Mr. Fogg's grand-mother, an old lady 80 years of age, discovered him and raised an alarm, which so frightened him he dropped his booty and made tracks.

Several Fairfield young men who left home last summer on a whaling voyage have returned disgusted. They deserted their ship at the Azore Islands. They complain that they didn't get enough to eat.

AN INDEPENDENT CLASS.—There is no business panning out better these hard times than farming. There is one good thing about it—a man can always raise enough to eat, if he is of any account. He can raise his potatoes, cabbages, onions, turnips, beets, etc. He can grow the strawberries, gooseberries, raspberries, grapes, apples and other fruits to satisfy the wants of his family. He can have poultry and eggs the year round. He can produce his own pork and veal, mutton and beef. The people in the city, if they have these articles, must earn the money and save it to buy them. This is a big item in favor of the farmer.

A reader in the country writes us as follows: "A mule in our village yesterday afternoon inadvertently kicked a can of nitro-glycerine. A barn one hundred yards distant was badly wrecked, and the mule appeared somewhat surprised, whirling around two or three times before resuming work at nibbling hay." We don't believe it—that is, we do believe the kicking and wrecked barn part, but we don't believe that the mule was surprised. It is a libel on the mule. A mule is surprised at nothing.—Norristown Herald.

SAND FOR BEDDING CATTLE.—Sand, if not the best, is one of the best articles used for bedding cattle. It is a good deodorizer, and keeps the stable sweet. As the cattle work it back into the trench under their feet it mixes with the manure, and thus divides it and makes it more suitable for the use of plants. If the distance to haul is not too far, its very cheapness ought to recommend its use. In barns that have no cellars, where it is used freely, it would absorb a large amount of urine that is now wasted. Soil and muck are dirty things to use in a stable, but sand is clean. Then, too, it is a nice thing to use under hen-roosts to receive the droppings, which can easily be raked off and kept in barrels, and in the spring mixed with fine cow manure—one part of the former to two of the latter. This being shoveled over thoroughly two or three times, makes a mass of rich manure. A large handful of this in the hill will set corn to growing finely. Flowers, too, grow and blossom far better in a soil that has an admixture of sand. So clayey and peaty soils are benefited by its combination with them, and vice versa. When spread on heavy soils in grass, it produces more effect than any chemical manure.

A PINK WEDDING.—A wedding recently took place in the town of Melton, Yorkshire, England, attended by some novel, or, at least, unusual features. The ceremonies were conducted in the parish church, and were followed by a sumptuous breakfast and a fox-hunt. It was called a pink wedding because the gentleman guests wore hunting-coats, the color of which, though a bright scarlet, is in England called pink.

RECEIPTS FOR THE TABLE.

HICKORY-NUT CAKE. Two cupfuls sugar and one of butter well rubbed together; four eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately; one cupful cold water, three cupfuls of sifted flour, one teaspoonful soda, two of cream tartar; two cupfuls of kernels of hickory-nuts.

HICKORY-NUT CAKE, II. One pound sugar, one-half pound butter, five eggs, one cupful milk, one pound flour, one teaspoonful soda, two of cream tartar, one pound nuts.

HICKORY-NUT CAKE, III. One cupful butter, two cupfuls sugar, four eggs, three-quarters of a cupful of milk, half teaspoonful soda, one teaspoonful cream tartar, four cupfuls flour, half pound hickory-nuts slightly broken. Beat the butter and sugar; add the milk, in which you have dissolved the soda; then add the yolk of the eggs, well beaten; then the flour, with the cream tartar well mixed with it; then the whites of eggs beaten stiff, and finally the nuts. Bake in a moderate oven, and ice it when done.

SCOTCH FANCY CAKES. Rub half a pound butter into a pound and a half of flour, break four eggs into three-quarters of a pound sugar, and whisk them five minutes, make a print with the butter and flour, pour in the eggs and sugar, and add half a gill of cream, mix all into a dough, cut into pieces about two inches across, and an eighth of an inch thick, cover the tins with buttered paper, lay the cakes on to bake.

MONTCLAIR DROP-CAKES. Beat up the whites and yolks of six eggs separately, with a spoonful of rose water; to which add six ounces powdered sugar; beat the whole well, and add one ounce of bruised carraway seeds, and six ounces flour, drop them on wafer-paper, and bake in a moderate oven.

FLO-FLO CAKES. One pound sugar, one pound butter, eight eggs, one pound and a quarter flour, two ounces currants, and a half nutmeg, mix the butter with the sugar and spice, then add half the eggs, and beat for a few minutes, add the rest of the eggs and work for five minutes longer, stir in the flour and currants, then bake into shapes.

VERONA CAKE. Take two pounds and a half prepared flour; add pint and a half cold milk, a pound butter, a pound sifted sugar, a pound currants, a quarter pound lemon and orange peel, and a little grated nutmeg, cinnamon, and allspice. Put in a round tin and bake an hour. This rich cake may be iced or ornamented.

BUNS. One potato boiled very soft; mash and add the water in which it was boiled (one pint); let it cool, make a batter of this with wheat flour and a tablespoonful Indian meal, also a 2-cent compressed yeast-cake, let it rise in a warm place for two hours; then add one cupful light brown sugar, two eggs, and two tablespoonfuls butter, all beaten together, knead very soft; form into buns, let them rise again, and bake about 15 minutes in a moderate oven.

CORN MUFFINS. One quart wheat flour, two teaspoonfuls royal baking powder, add to it one cupful yellow meal, cream together one cupful butter, one cupful sugar, three eggs, add one pint milk; stir well; then add flour and meal. Bake in muffin rings, hot oven.

MOLASSES COOKIES. One cup each of sugar, butter and molasses, one-half cup cold coffee, in it dissolve two teaspoonfuls soda, one tablespoonful ginger; mix soft and do not roll too thin.

TO ROAST A STEAK. Take three pounds of round steak, pound it well to have it tender; make a dressing as for goose or duck; spread on the steak as for a roll jelly cake, roll it up tight and tie with a strong cord. Sprinkle with pepper and salt; lay small pieces of butter on the outside. Roast slowly, cut in slices, and serve hot.

HOW TO CURE BACON. We have had our meat houses so far from our homes that we could not attend to the curing of our meat until a great many have almost forgotten how to save good bacon; hence I will give my plan to your many friends of making good home cured bacon. Be sure and get the hogs good and fat, and kill in a good spell of weather, and when the hogs are in good thriving condition. After the hogs are all cut up each piece, (sides excepted) should be exposed to the cold night air, and the house top is an excellent place. In the morning early the meat should be taken down and every piece nicely trimmed with a sharp knife, saving all "bits" for lard, so that there will be no waste. Prepare the salt and saltpetre. Put one bushel of salt to every eight hundred pounds of meat. Salt down in large boxes or hogsheads, and put on each ham and shoulder one teaspoonful of saltpetre as you pack the meat down. Put the meat down carefully and well packed, using all the joints to keep level ...

DOORKEEPER POLK.

Now Doorkeeper Polk, of the House, the successor of Fitzhugh of Texas, who recorded himself as "a biger man than old Grant," is charged with retaining sixty-three men on the rolls in excess of the law, with being interested in a great many claims and much legislation before Congress, and with being an associate of lobbyists and corrupt schemers about the Capitol. On Friday Mr. Baker, of Indiana, offered a resolution reciting the charges and directing the Committee on Rules to inquire into the matter and report whether said Doorkeeper is guilty of the alleged charges, and also whether that office ought not to be abolished. Affidavits were produced in support of the charges, but the Democrats made all possible opposition, though they did not dare to go so far as to refuse an investigation. The record they made for themselves in the matter is anything but creditable, as is shown in the following account of their action given by the Boston Advertiser's special correspondent:

After they had done everything in their power to break the force of the resolution, there was strenuous opposition to having the affidavits go into the record. Speaker Randall did not deal very fairly, more than once allowing the Democrats, who claimed the floor on a point of order, to get in a considerable speech in which no point of order was made, in spite of the protest of Mr. Baker, who had the floor by right. After the resolution for an investigation had been passed, Mr. Ellsworth of Michigan, a new member, distinguished himself unfavorably by moving to omit from the Record the affidavits. The Republicans, supposing that he would not have presumed to take such a step except with the consent and at the desire of Mr. Baker, of whose speech they were a part, and who had left the hall, did not oppose the motion, and the Democrats largely eagerly voted for it. Just as the vote was announced, Mr. Baker returned, and, as soon as he learned what had been done, moved to reconsider the motion, and made an indignant protest against having his speech suppressed in that summary fashion. The less judicious and more partisan Democrats opposed reconsideration, and, even after the Speaker and Alexander Stephens had declared that the matter was a gross wrong, persisted in voting not to undo it, but they were overruled. The Democrats made a very bad record for themselves in this whole business, and their conduct in struggling so eagerly against an investigation of specific charges made on oath contrasted strangely with their action on Wood's resolution for dragnet investigations, without charges, three weeks ago."

How Prussia keeps up her admirable school system providing a supply of trained teachers, is shown by the statistics recently given in an educational organ of the country. The starting point of the present method was a resolution adopted by the Prussian Parliament in 1870, in the very crisis of the French war, "to endeavor to meet more rapidly than hitherto the pressing need for the erection of new training institutions and the enlargement of those already existing." The consequence has been, since 1870, an increase of 21 training institutions, and an increase of male pupils in training for teachers of 2076. The whole number of institutions last year was 99, and of male pupils 9729. During the year 1776 of these pupils, left, having completed their training course. There are, besides, 7 institutions for female teachers, with 479 pupils. An invariable feature of these institutions is a practice-school, where the incipient teacher, "having learned a thing, goes and does it," as Mr. Squeers stated the rule in his school, though by no means after his style, but with the regular German thoroughness and skill. These practice-schools in 1876 contained 13,820 children. There is no danger that Prussian education will recede from its present high standard.

Certain lines of "Mother Shipton's Prophecy," said to have been made in 1453 now come to the front as applicable to the conquering of Turkey by the Russians. They read as follows:

> In twice two hundred years the Bear,
> The Crescent shall assail,
> But if the Cock and Bull unite,
> The Bear shall not prevail.
> But lo, in twice ten years again,
> Let Islam know and fear—
> The Crescent shall wax, the Crescent wane,
> Grow pale and disappear.

"Twice two hundred years," from 1453, brings us to 1853. This was the beginning of the "Crimean war." France (the "cock") and England (the "bull") declared war in alliance with Turkey (Islam) against Russia (the "bear,") in March, 1854. In 1856 peace was concluded by Congress at Paris. "The bear did not prevail." "Twice ten years", from this period brings us to 1876, during which year the disturbances commenced in Herzegovina, Bosnia and Bulgaria, Montenegro and Servia, which finally involved the Porte in war.

BUSINESS NOTES. The number of bushels of grain shipped from the West to Eastern ports from August 1st to January 19th of this year is 80,013,139 bushels. In 1876-7, the number of bushels for the same time was 73,312,152 and 71,193,103 in 1875-6. The corn crop of Illinois is put at 280,-880,742 bushels. The export tables for January show that the out-go of cut-meats has risen to 47,000,000 pounds, against 30,000,000 pounds in the corresponding month of 1876, the butter export was 404,-000 pounds, against 208,000 in 1876; cheese increased 1,000,000 on the same basis of comparison, lard went up from 13,000,000 pounds to 28,000,000; and wheat doubled from 1,550,000 bushels in January, 1876, to 3,192,008 in January, 1878. Cotton fell off from 63,000 bales to 38,000 and the shipments of tobacco have largely decreased.

There are about seventy thousand claims for pensions awaiting the action of the Pension Bureau at Washington. The business of the office is so much in arrears now that a case cannot be reached in regular order until at least sixteen months after the papers are filed, and the number of claims awaiting action is constantly increasing. Two years ago, because of the demand for economy, the number of clerks in the Surgeon-General's office was reduced thirty-four, by act of Congress. Because of the delays in the Pension office there is much suffering by men justly entitled to prompt relief, and many applicants for pensions have died, suffering from poverty, while their claims, for the reasons named, remained uninvestigated.

The Circassian in Turkey seems to be a two-edged sort of a fellow. Demoralized, he is as much a terror to the Turkish people in the towns near Constantinople as he was some months ago to the Bulgarians. He has the instinct of a bummer, and is looking out for "number one" with so much enthusiasm that the authorities at Constantinople want to banish him.

When a Southern rebel organ rises to remark that William Lloyd Garrison is an old traitor, and ought to be hanged, it is time for Northern men to think a little about what we are conciliating.—Boston Traveller.

WRECK OF THE METROPOLIS.

The wreck of the steamer Metropolis, at Kitty Hawk, the scene of the recent Huron disaster, is shown by the statements of survivors to have been owing to the unseaworthiness of the vessel. Being deeply laden she labored in a heavy sea, which caused her to open her seams and leak. Captain Angers did all that skill and judgment could suggest or experience devise, but when the fires went out it left his vessel powerless. He therefore was unable to drive her upon the beach as he anticipated, or to keep the vessel from going on broadside and exposing the vessel's deck to be swept by each succeeding sea. Seeing no prospect of help from the shore, the people on board gave up all hope. Afterward word was given to "save yourself." Consternation prevailed, over which no mortal power has control and the scene was one too painful to be forgotten. R. W. Brooks, a fireman, who was saved says:

After she struck the waves immediately commenced washing the decks from stem to stern, breaking in the weather side. We all stood this for about two hours, when one man, a fireman, started to swim ashore; also the first mate, after whom I followed. We managed to get ashore after a hard swim, landing about half a mile above where the ship struck; found no one on shore to afford us any assistance. After we three reached shore all were so weak as to be scarcely able to move. A boat with six men put off from the ship and succeeded in reaching the shore with all aboard. Nine of us then started up the beach, following the telegraph poles in search of any one to render us aid. The only living thing we saw was a cow, and she immediately ran away. We, however, followed her up until we got on a sand hill, from which we saw the lighthouse, and after running a mile through the brush and briers in bare feet, with nothing on but shirt and drawers, we came to Currituck lighthouse club. Mr. Wm. Johnson, one of the employes, received us and told us to take off our wet clothes and he would give us dry ones, after doing which he immediately started a boy horseback to the lighthouse to inform the keeper of the wreck and to send life saving apparatus to the scene.

After getting on dry clothes we all proceeded to the wreck, accompanied by Mr. Jones and four men belonging to the life-saving station who carried ammunition and a mortar. We followed to the beach and found it covered with bodies and portions of the wreck. Upon getting opposite to the ship a mortar was placed in position and a line thrown over the topsail of the vessel. The under-current was so strong, however, that it snapped the lines. They again fired two more lines toward the ship, but failed to hit it. These three shots exhausted all the ammunition, and the men finding it useless to expect any help commenced trying to swim ashore. The fourteen men on shore then formed a chain and advanced in the water to aid our unfortunate shipmates. Of the five who tried to swim ashore, we saved four. The men then commenced leaving the ship one and two at a time until twenty-six men were saved by us. About one o'clock Thursday the ship commenced breaking to pieces rapidly. At that time all that was left was the hurricane deck over the saloon, with, as near as I could judge, 150 men holding on the rigging. I left the beach and went to the club-house. I then took a boat with Mr. Jones and went over to his neighbor, Mr. Hampton, where I got my supper and staid all night. Friday morning Mr. Hampton took me in a row boat to Currituck landing, where I took the Cygnet at 6 P. M., and proceeded immediately to Norfolk to communicate with Collins in regard to what I should do for the comfort and relief of the survivors and the remains of those left.

A short time ago the Huron, of the United States Navy, was wrecked on Kitty Hawk, N. C., and great loss of life occurred, from an error in navigation. Now very near the same place another vessel has been wrecked and, with the loss of life occasioned thereby, another horror is added to the list. The one was an error of judgment, the other seems to have been a grave rerror, if such a term covers it. The Metropolis having on board nearly three hundred persons was, if the accounts are true, an unseaworthy old hulk, and cost upwards of an hundred lives by being freighted and sent to sea. Some one is guilty either of gross ignorance as to the condition of the vessel, or gross wickedness in sending her out. The loss of the steamer ought to be investigated and whoever is guilty should be made to suffer the penalty. The dangers of the sea are great, and sending men to face them in rotten ships should be stopped if it is possible.

COUNTY TAXES. On Friday the Committee on County estimates reported to the Legislature a resolve levying the following taxes for county purposes:

At last, if the despatches this time are to be relied on, the preliminaries of peace and an armistice between the Russians and Turks have been signed and hostilities are to be suspended forthwith. The six conditions as now announced embrace about all that has been reported heretofore as the terms of the Russians and they are probably fully as sweeping as represented. The Turks have made peace none too soon for themselves, for further resistance could only bring still greater suffering than they have and are now experiencing. Their condition is pitiable in the extreme. The next move will be the settlement of the terms for permanent peace and the voice of the Powers will soon be heard in relation to the conditions which seem thus far very magnanimous on the part of the conquerors.

The little boy recently brought from Demerara to Baltimore, under the impression that he might be Charlie Ross, is still at the Home of the Friendless in that city, Mr. Ross being in New Orleans and not yet having seen him. The boy is very bright and intelligent, but persists in the statement that his name is Charlie Ross and that he lived "on the hill" with his mother near Philadelphia. It is well known that the people of Germantown all speak of Mr. Ross's place as "on the hill." On being shown a picture of Charlie Ross in the book published by Mr. Ross he put his hand to his head and said; "That was me before my curls were cut off," and also recognized the picture of his nurse in the same book. He resembles the description of Charlie Ross, with the exception that his eyes are of a different color.

Mr. Louis C. Elson, writing of Chinese music in the Vox Humana, says that the noise of the gong, tamtam, trumpet, etc., are inseperable from all Chinese dramatic performances. Although the noise is deafening, and the voices of the actors are sometimes drowned in spite of their shouting themselves hoarse, yet this pandemonium only gives tranquil delight to the Chinese spectator, whether he be of high or low class. It is so extraordinary a fact that physiologists and anatomists have endeavored to prove that the cause is due to a peculiar formation of the Chinese ear. Certain it is that the Chinese are so passionately fond of the drama that they will sometimes pass twenty hours in succession in this noisy entertainment.

THE NEGRO QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

I again ask a small space in your paper to communicate a few thoughts on the above question, believing as I do that in it are merged some of the vital interests of our country.

Now when it is generally conceded that the Southern policy of the National Administration is, to say the least, a serious mistake, I will also concede without entering into the whys and wherefores that the solution of this question by the United States government has proved a signal failure.

The first grand step by which the shackles of chattel slavery were knocked from his sore festering limbs, was bravely and effectually taken. But the redemption of the national pledge to sustain and protect him in his new pledged freedom is at this hour sadly wanting. But it is not, I humbly conceive, the prerogative of a brave and powerful nation to sit down and whine in despair over a failure, whether that failure originated in blunder or criminal neglect. The practical question is what's the remedy? It seems to me a feasible and effectual remedy is now available, and should be at once adopted. A remedy as peaceful and just as it is practicable.

While I have been opposed to all former schemes of colonization, I am now prepared not only to accept but to advocate a scheme of this sort, in order to do justice to the negroes and lift a fearful responsibility from the shoulders of the nation—a responsibility which we can obviate only by honestly meeting and cancelling it. And now when nearly the entire colored population of the South appear to be looking in this direction, it seems to me to be the opportune time. The idea of colonizing five millions of our people in far off Africa looks to me so impracticable as to be preposterous. But thanks to a generous beneficient Providence we have ample room at our very doors; within our own grand, capacious homestead.

Let then Congress immediately assign to this part of our population a generous slice of the very best o. our yet unoccupied territory, where the long-abused negro may assume and enjoy without let or hindrance, a free, unshackled manhood, choose his occupation not only, but in due time his rulers and make his own laws.

A few reasons for adopting this course:

1st—It is by great odds the cheapest method of cancelling a sacred and imperative obligation.

2d—It is a peaceable method. Not a single bayonet will be needed in the process unless the Southern chivalry attempt to play Pharaoh.

3d—It is a rightful method, the North having an unquestioned right as against the South to the negroes, having redeemed them at the enormous price of rivers of precious blood and oceans of treasure.

4th—It will at once relieve the South of what they insist on treating as a nuisance; at the same time or eventually freeing their character from a foul blot, of which there seems no prospect of their being freed while the negro remains with them.

And again it will originate a legitimate and profitable use for a material thus far worse than useless. I allude to the Ku-Klux, rifle-clubs and shotgun organizations, including, perhaps the "sand-hillers." For all these there will be ample room in the sugar, rice, cotton and the sweet potatoe fields.

And then how nice it will be to have never a nigger obtruding his woolly head and sable face into military organizations and especially into the ballot-box and halls of legislation. Won't Southern laws be both pure and wise then?

Another advantage to the South under the new regime, if it accepts the situation and exercises a little common sense; northern capital coupled with Northern brain, genius and muscle, will flow in to fill the vacuum caused by the negro exodus, greatly to Southern advantage.

5th—Then for the North it will get back the suffrage rightly its own, now lost to it by current events, and thus enable it to resume its equitable weight in the national councils.

In conclusion let me say: Very rarely has an opportunity occurred to any nation so completely and manifestly blending justice with enlightened self interest. In such a movement the North can richly afford to deal with bountiful generosity from both public and private resources. Let the government then supply all the means for migration, agricultural tools and seeds, with temporary rations that may be done without encouraging indolence or lowering independence and manly self-reliance and self-respect in the recipient; at the same time carefully guarding against intruders, white or red, and making such disposition of a portion of the territory assigned as may lay an ample foundation for educational interests, especially well organized free common schools. Then what a grand opening for the true philanthropist, first in the migration and settlement and then in the mental and moral cultivation and uplifting of this long-time oppressed and down-trodden people. Finally it seems quite plain to me that should this subject be rightly viewed, the next six weeks would see Congress flooded with petitions from the Northern States with not a few from the South asking immediate action.

The Upright Piano

is, from its small, compact form and handsome exterior, especially suited to the parlors of many houses where a Square Piano could not conveniently be placed. The volume of tone is fully equal to any Square Grand Pianos, while the quality is of the most exquisite, musical character. The durability of Upright Pianos, and their capacity of standing in tune, is unparalleled in the history of Piano-making. I have both UPRIGHT and SQUARE PIANOS of all grades and prices, including the unapproachable

THE NABOB.

FROM the FRENCH of ALPHONSE DAUDET.

"There are many happy and charming details in this 'Nabob.'"—From the N. Y. Nation.
"Daudet's genius always reminds us of that of Hawthorne, and is, indeed, a FRENCH HAWTHORNE."—New York Graphic.
"The book is indescribable, and must be seen to be appreciated. It is a work of intense interest."—Portland Argus.
"The Nabob is remarkable, it will hold its supremacy surpassing that of 'Sidonie,' and will give the name of Alphonse Daudet a fame he had not heretofore achieved."—Chicago Tribune.
"Daudet's latest stands easily at the head of the new novels." "The author's purpose is distinctly to teach, the teaching is good, and to mature minds it will bring both moral profit and intellectual pleasure."—Literary World.

Great Sale of Black Silks!

We have just received from one of the largest importing houses in the country an invoice of BLACK SILKS. These Silks are the regular

CACHEMERE GUINETT SILKS.
AND WARRANTED PURE.

These Silks were sent here to be sold, and they will be at some price.

Those Ladies who contemplate buying a Silk will find it much to their advantage to examine this stock.
Ladies who send away to buy their Silks we invite to bring in a pattern and compare then judge who sells cheap.
Ladies who do not wish to buy are invited to come in and examine these goods, and go home and tell it not.

No trouble to show these Silks. We have plenty of clerks ready and willing to display them, sell them or cut a pattern.

THE JORDAN & MARSH STORE
IS STILL ALIVE.

We have got the largest stock of Black Silks ever shown in this city and we can and will sell them cheaper than Black Silks were ever sold in Bangor. Black Silks can be sold just as cheap in Bangor as in Boston. This we will prove to all will take the trouble to compare prices.
When you come in enquire for the Silks we are selling for $1.58 per yard.

The heavy storm which seems to have opened at New Orleans about midnight on Tuesday, passing over Charleston and Savannah traveled parallel with the coast, over the water, and causing considerable damage to shipping the wreck of the Metropolis and the terrible loss of life at ending it being the most painful part of the record It began in Boston about 4 o'clock on Thursday afternoon and the snow came down so rapidly that the gale soon rendered the streets almost impassable, stopping the horse cars and making even travelling on foot a very slow as well as tiresome business Many ludicrous but no severe accidents seem to have resulted in this city However The train which connects with the train at Portland for this city, met with tedious obstructions to get through and an accident resulted which is detailed elsewhere At or near Augusta the snow seems to have ceased and in this portion of the State was experienced only sharp winds and a seemingly colder wave, until Saturday, which was a very agreeable day out of doors So the first heavy storm of the winter has passed leaving us out of its range

A GENTLE HINT

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature,—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c ; regular size, 75 c. d&weow

He claims that he is a Baptist minister and has been in correspondence with a gentleman in this city in relation to church matters The letters were written from Gardiner (Me) where he has been stopping Marshal Low has telegraphed to Springfield and will hold the man until an officer arrives

ART ASSOCIATION The annual meeting of the Society occurs to morrow at 4 o clock at the Art Rooms Main street In the evening the members are to enjoy a social meeting, the ladies as usual contributing the cake, which has at all former gatherings been classed among "the fine arts". Another treat, will however, proceed that, we refer to the lecture of vice President Sewall, postponed from last Tuesday, its subject as we have already announced, that of the popular statue "Venus de Milo," and from facts which have recently come to light concerning the statue we may expect from the lecturer its true and authentic history, and it will certainly be interesting to all, who may attend. Framed pictures, statuary etc, have been tastefully arranged upon the walls and the hall presents a very attractive appearance. The success which has attending this society during the three years of its organization is far greater than any of its members anticipated and in many ways evidences show that the society has been a benefit to our city.

The last issue of the Aroostook Valley Sunrise states that its former veteran editor and proprietor Daniel Stickney, Esq, has been engaged to manage the political department of that paper. Mr. Stickney has had a vacation of about six months and again assumes the editorial chair greatly improved in health and will as formerly, devote the columns of that paper to the interest of the Republican party with no modern improvements

FORGERY Saturday afternoon a young man presented an order at Conner Brothers shoe store with T. G. Stickney's name signed at the bottom The order called for what goods the young man wanted, and after looking at it a few minutes Mr Conner let him have a pair of boots, a pair of slippers, a pair of gloves and a pair of over shoes But after he had departed Mr Conner took the order down to Mr Stickney and that gentleman pronounced it a forgery Mr C then notified the police and they arrested the fellow Before going to Conner's shoe store he presented an order of the same kind at Tobin's clothing store but as Mr Tobin was out at the time the clerk refused to receive it

HOW'S THIS? Among the local items in our Saturday's issue there was one in which, by the omission of a comma a gentleman's name was given as "Thursday O Eastman" In the Commercial allied it a conundrum as to who the individual is In the same column of that paper, in which reference is made to our error, the following lucid paragraph appears

The severe snow storm which they they are having to the west of us caused quite a delay in the trains The train from Boston did not reach Portland in season to connect with the train that left the latter city about 1 o clock yesterday and the train which arrived here at 8 30 brought no mail and passengers further west than Portland The night Pullman train was by the [illegible] not reaching here till 10 o clock this morning

Most people will call this downright stupidity

PRESS JONES ARRESTED FOR STEALING COAT For some time past Mr A H Babcock has been convinced that some one was making a business of stealing coal from his shed on Broad street and he notified the police that he wanted them to be on the lookout for the party Con[illegible] [illegible] was detailed to watch the shed but he did not detect any one on that evening but last Saturday evening about nine o clock he saw [illegible] coming out of the shed with two large pieces of coal under his coat He waited until he got out on to the street when he saw that the offender was Press Jones, and touching him on the shoulder, asked him what he had under his coat [illegible] made one of those peculiar jumps and bringing the coal to sight cried out [illegible] [illegible] The officer took him to the station house [illegible]

CALAIS Our correspondent [illegible] date of the [illegible] who started the Reform Club in this city last year met Mr McKenzie here last Thursday On Friday night the [illegible] Club from St Stephen and this city came out early in that and strong, bearing torches and the citizens [illegible] illuminated their buildings After marching for nearly an hour and a half they proceeded to City Hall and the Opera House, both of which were crowded to overflowing After speeches by Messrs McKenzie and [illegible] members of the organization [illegible] hundred and fifty [illegible] were [illegible] Almost every one in this city wears the red ribbon Mr [illegible] Mr McKenzie will be here part of the week It is said that the rum [illegible], thirty five in number held an indignation meeting last week and resolved to buy nothing from stores [illegible] badge was worn

FIREMAN'S RELIEF ASSOCIATION Some of our citizens are now trying to organize [illegible] for forming a Fireman's Relief Association [illegible] been formed in various cities [illegible] great help to the noble firemen [illegible] [illegible] are injured while on duty [illegible] lose their time and [illegible] dependent on their daily labor for support of their families they cannot afford to [illegible] It seems right that a man who is running the risk of his life for other people's property should be allowed [illegible] little money if he is injured while on duty and this association would be organized for the purpose of assisting any firemen who should receive such injuries as to keep him from his regular employment What they want is to form an association with President and Vice Presidents Secretary and Treasurer for officers and to establish a regular fund for the benefit of the firemen We have talked with several of our citizens about the matter and they say if the city will start the fund by an appropriation that it can be increased by a series of entertainment dances etc and that in a short time the association would be in good working condition

THE STORM

A serious accident on the Eastern Railroad

[illegible] the Portland Press

The severe storm predicted Thursday to arrive here during the night fulfilled its engagements although it was hardly as severe as was experienced in the South and West The wind blew hard all Thursday evening but the snow did not begin to fall until 2 30 yesterday morning The fierce wind hurled it about in heaps here and there

The Eastern railroad suffered severely by the storm Their wires were disarranged early in the day and they had a succession of accidents no trains arriving here during the day A very bad accident occurred at Revere It appears that the train due to leave Salem at 6 A M, for Lynn and Boston, left one hour late with two engines and one snow plow The conductor of the train was Nathan Dame, and the baggage master John McDonald There were four cars, viz. a baggage car, a smoking car and two passenger cars The forward engine was No 43, Fred Convers engineer, and Lewis Voorhees fireman, and the section engine No 30, with William Meade engineer, and William Breen fireman. The train left Lynn at 7 20, and in passing over Saugus marshes was compelled to cut through many large snow drifts When the train reached Lloyd's bridge in Revere a monstrous snow drift was struck, which threw the snow plow into the air and off the track. The forward engine dashed under the snow plow and its smoke stack and cab were torn off and the engine thrown from the track, as was also the second engine and every car on the train. The engineers and firemen of both locomotives were tossed into the air, Engineer Convers received a serious gash on the top of his head, while engineer Meade had his head cut open, his side crushed and one leg broken. Both firemen escaped with slight bruises None of the passengers of the train were injured as far as can be ascertained, although they experienced a severe shaking up by the concussion, and were much frightened. Baggage-master McDonald was in his car, and although one side of the car was stove in he received no severe injury, and conductor Dame also escaped injury. Brakeman Larrabee was standing on the platform between the third and fourth cars, and jumped at the time of the accident into a snow drift. He received painful bruises on his side and back and was unconscious for nearly an hour Both engineers upon being picked up from the snow were carried into the baggage car and everything was done to alleviate their sufferings Engineer Meade was in a delirious state at last accounts and will probably die Upon being carried into the baggage car his first words were an inquiry for his fireman Neither engines nor cars are badly wrecked although the track is torn up for several rods One engine was thrown on the right hand side of the track and the other, with the cars on the left hand side There were 75 to 100 passengers on the train Engineer Meade resides in Salem is 33 years old and has a wife and large family Engineer Convers belongs in Lawrence and runs a freight train between that city and Salem

FARMERS CONVENTION IN KNOX COUNTY

Winter Meeting of the Board of Agriculture

In [illegible] invitation extended [illegible] from the [illegible] agricultural societies in Knox county to the State Board of Agriculture to hold a Farmers Convention in that county the committee charged with the matter have decided to hold the coming winter or annual session in the [illegible] on the 21st of February next It has been decided [illegible] place of meeting because it [illegible] believed that by holding it there it will accommodate a large number of interested practical farmers—the very class which the Board hopes to benefit by their meetings—[illegible] any other equally available point in the county and at the same time, that it will accommodate the members of the Board in visiting farmers better than any other place Among the members of the State Board who are to present essays or papers are Mr C Hayford of Pe[illegible]que Isle [illegible] Millett Esq of Topsham [illegible] Bodwell Esq of Acton [illegible] Sumner [illegible] of Portland—whose subjects will be announced hereafter It is also probable that papers from other members of the State Board will be presented In addition to these gentlemen Hon [illegible] W Corthell State Superintendent of schools will give an lecture on the duties of the farmers to the public schools including a plea for more attention to the study of agriculture and the natural sciences in primary and intermediate schools, Mr Joseph Harris of Moreton Farm Rochester N Y—a name well known to every intelligent reader of our agricultural journals during the past [illegible] years—will give two of his popular Walks and Talks on the Farm and Dr E L Sturtevant of Massachusetts—one of the most accurate, thorough and deep [illegible] agricultural investigators of the time—will lecture on Indian corn and its cheap production and most timely subject and one which we assure our readers will be handled in an exhaustive and satisfactory manner The programme is certainly one of the best that has ever been arranged for a farmers' convention in Maine [illegible] will follow the reading of these several essays and it is hoped and expected that farmers generally will participate in the same and thus aid as well as share in the benefits and successes of the convention The arrangement of the programme will be made in such a way that the evening lectures will have an interest to all citizens whether farmers or otherwise and to the evening sessions of the convention ladies are cordially invited Particulars regarding railroad arrangements and other details will be made public hereafter

What Everybody Wants

Every family wants pure ice frozen at their ... spring well or cistern water ... This city has just ... will enable every ... to supply itself with pure ice at ... the water used can be selected either from springs wells, or cisterns. ... frozen in regular uniform cakes, smooth and ... much more convenient to handle and less liable to catch and retain dirt than ice ... For shipping purposes the ice can be frozen on wharf and shipped without expense of cutting ... storing. In cases where there is a liability that the ice in a river may be tampered with or injured for shipping purposes the water may be pumped and frozen free from snow and at less expense than it can be cut from the river. In fact, as a matter of simple economy water may be taken from most of the thousands of rivers and streams at the portions on our coast and conducted on to wharves and frozen within easy reach of ... vessels tackle, and in most of these water courses dams and water power for pumping are already constructed and available.

In locations which are surrounded with salt water and where ice can only be obtained by hauling long distances it can be manufactured from any little rivulet or from spring well or cistern water on the spot for all domestic purposes, and even for shipment.

Any parties wishing to use the above invention can obtain full particulars by addressing

JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT

IS SUCH A REMEDY,

And is within the reach of all

IT WILL CURE THE WORST CASES

Nine Times out of Ten

... A young married lady in ... from ... was expected to ... unfortunate ... when the physician arrived and ... with ... the mother ... other ... great faith in JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT and ... The doctor replied Certainly if you will ... do neither harm nor good. While this conversation was taking place the poor lady was gasping for breath and it was evident that she could live but a few moments longer. But the mother quickly uncorked the bottle and gave a teaspoonful clear to her child. The effect was like magic. In an instant she could breathe a little ... The mother immediately commenced to bathe the throat externally and in a short time all present saw that the crisis was passed. In a few hours she was considered out of danger and in a few days was well. The husband of the lady related these facts to Mr Jennings of our firm a few days ago in Boston. He said that JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT saved the life of his wife, without the shadow of a doubt. Why should not every family in this State supply themselves with this priceless remedy at once and so be prepared for emergencies?

What is the trifling cost of a bottle or a half dozen of this Anodyne compared with the worth of a human life? Lose not a moment, but let every family be supplied. If any are too poor to pay, send to us and state the facts and we will furnish it for nothing

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.

Bathe the throat with quite warm water, wipe dry, saturate a red flannel with the Liniment, and bind round the neck several thicknesses, with a white cotton cloth outside. Give a teaspoonful internally; repeat twice a day till cured.
